Local Man is Wounded

Malcolm McDonald Lying Wounded in a Hospital in France.

McDonald, who is well known here, made many friends while managing the affairs of the Whitlock Lumber Co. Shortly after war was declared McDonald volunteered for active service with the 106th, regiment at Saskatoon, and left town to join his regiment on the 17th of August last year.

Just how serious his wound is, is not known at present, but as his name is not under the heading of a "dangerously wounded" his friends are more hopeful that his injuries will not be fatal.

The Price of Farm Lands

No doubt agriculture shows a lower rate of return on the capital investment than any other important business. After charging up the farmer's own labour and a reasonable allowance for depreciation of buildings and machinery, it is doubtful whether farms, as a whole, would show a net return of 3 per cent. on their current valuation. The true figure may be considerably less. But probably that condition will always prevail, because capital, on the whole, is invested in farms on a basis different from that governing most investments.

For one thing, there is the historic fact that farm lands have greatly appreciated in value over a large part of the country. The buyer often looks to an expected appreciation quite as much as to the immediate return. More important than that, the buyer of a farm usually expects to apply his own labour on it, and for that privilege he is willing to pay a premium. Say he has fifteen thousand dollars: He can put it into five per cent. railroad bond and get seven hundred and fifty dollars a year; or he can put it into a farm, getting four hundred and fifty dollars net return upon his capital after paying himself six hundred dollars in wages and having, meantime, his house rent, milk, butter, eggs, vegetables—and so on. He prefers the three per cent. investment to the five per cent. one.

It is well known too, that the price of farm lands tends to be fixed by results on the best managed farms in the neighbourhood, or by what the most skillful farmers can get out of them. Undoubtedly many individual farmers get much more than 3 per cent. on their investments. Others will buy in the hope of doing as well.

For these reasons, no doubt farming will always yield an average low return on the investment. Suppose the farms in a given region now show a net return of three per cent. Suppose productivity were suddenly so increased as to raise the return fifty per cent. We should then expect to see the price of farm lands marked up fifty per cent.; so that the net return would again be only 3 per cent. on current valuation.

Farm lands in the last census period increased a hundred and eighteen per cent. in value, while increasing less than five per cent. in extent. Total wealth produced on farms increased in the same time eighty per cent.,

Water's Effect on Freight Rates.

The fixing of freight rates is dependent upon competition in the first instance. When that factor is eliminated or modified the length of the haul and the possibility of moving the product by all or partial water route becomes effective. The available rate on western products is a factor in placing the products of Kansas and Iowa in the markets of the world under advantageous circumstances, and in view of the fact that one ton of coal will move a given volume of freight six miles on water to one mile on land it is evident that no section of the country would long contemplate with favor the transportation of its products to the point of consumption entirely by the too costly rail process—bookkeeper.

Zebu Beef in France.

French colonial authorities have inaugurated a serious attempt to introduce in the French market the zebu of Madagascar as a substitute for beef, says the Scientific American. The first batch of a dozen carcasses sold in the Paris stalls brought the prices of the highest grades of cattle. Herds of zebras, otherwise known as Indian zebras, which have been threatened with extermination, are now being rapidly restored, and probably 4,000,000 head roam the plateaus of Madagascar. The meat of the zebu is said to be savory and nutritious and is equal to beef.

Electric Steel Furnaces.

An article in Le Gentle Civil states that seventy-eight electric furnaces now exist in the steel works of the world, of which thirty-five are on the induction and forty-three on the arc principle. Fourteen are Kjellin furnaces, eleven Siemens, ten Boshing-Boshing, three Electroblast society (Sweden) and one each Colby, Bloch, Keller, Schmelzer and Wallin. There is a steady and marked tendency to increase the capacity of these furnaces, some of these already constructed holding as much as eight million tons.

A good many of the townspeople are celebrating Dominion Day at Sibbald.

Mrs. Wm. Hitts left last Tuesday morning for Sibbald.

The Princess Pats, as a unit, are dead. Long live the Princess Pats.

The great campaign of Methodism vs. Miracles, of sacrosanctity against cigarettes, seems destined after all to end in smoke.

Lloyd George is given unlimited powers by the King. The two Georges, King and Lloyd, are making history these days.

"Mother, is father going to motor?"

"No, my dear. Father is going to fuss and fume."

Black (despondently): "I said something my wife didn't like, and she hasn't spoken to me for two days."

Slack (angrily): "Can you remember what it was, old man?"

By-Law No. 16

A BY-LAW of the Rural Municipality of Cereal, 212, to determine what shall constitute a Lawful Fence in said Municipality.

The Council of the Rural Municipality of Cereal No. 212, enacts as follows:—

A Lawful Fence shall be as hereinafter described, viz:—

(1) Posts to be two rods apart with six wires on same. Top wire to be not more than, approximately, forty four inches from the ground, and bottom wire to be approximately sixteen inches lower than top wire, or,

(2) Posts three rods apart, and three wires. Top wire to be approximately forty eight inches from the ground. The remaining wires to be approximately fourteen inches apart.

Done and passed in open Council assembled at Oyen, Alberta, this Twenty-Fourth day of June, 1915.

Signed J. C. Cottrell, Reeve
J. Howard Alexander, Sec. Treas.

due largely to higher prices for farm products. A great part of this total wealth, of course, is consumed on the farm; so that whether farm income increased eighty per cent. is a question. At any rate, the figures indicate that the price of farm lands not only kept abreast with increase of farm income but rather run ahead of it.—S.E.P.
